1. The Polish Legation in Buenos Aires is offering free passage to Poland as an inducement to ex-soldiers of the Anders Army now living in Argentina to return to Poland. Approximately forty have already signed up for repatriation.
2. [REDACTED] these men have elected to return to Poland not because they are Communists or have any sympathy for Communism, but because, like many Poles who have migrated to Argentina in recent years, they are dissatisfied and homesick for Poland.
3. With the exception of Poles who possess specialized training,* the repatriation of long-time Polish residents of Argentina is not being encouraged. Prospective repatriates in this class who apply to the Polish Legation for permission to return to Poland are faced with almost insurmountable obstacles and red tape.
